THE IDEAL CANDIDATE WILL POSSESS THE FOLLOWING QUALIFICATIONS:

- Experience in collective bargaining, representation, advocacy, or dispute resolution proceedings helpful, but not required
- A strong desire to recruit and mobilize volunteers around social justice issues
- Experience with database management a strong plus
- Ability to build collaborative relationships with diverse groups
- Clear and concise communications skills
- The ability to work occasional weekends or travel overnight
- Valid driver's license, car and insurance

Education: Either: (1) a certificate of successful completion of the University of California's Extension Program in Labor-Management Relations; or (2) a four (4) year college degree.

Experience: For those individuals not possessing a four year college degree, at least three (3) years of professional experience in employer/employee relations providing representation at a level equivalent to that required of a CSUEU Labor Relations Representative.

For those who do possess a four (4) year college degree, at least one (1) year of professional experience in employer/employee relations providing representation at a level equivalent to that required of a CSUEU Labor Relations Representative

The salary range for the Labor Relations Representative is $4,990 - $7,103 per month. Starting salaries are typically at the first step on our salary range, although consideration may be given for candidates with exceptional qualifications and experience. Additional benefits include 13 paid holidays, generous vacation accrual, medical benefits for you and your family, life insurance, and a pension plan.

To apply, email your resume with a cover letter explaining why we should hire you as our next Labor Relations Representative to careers@calcsea.org! Please include the job number in subject line: CSUEU.2017.10. No phone calls please.
